Online Leadership Seminar: Enhancing Personal Impact and Presence in the Virtual World

Thursday 16 July 10:00 – 12:30 | Member fee: £165 + VAT

While we adapt to remote working, the question many of us are asking is 'how can I authentically develop my personal impact, now that I am not even in the room and not getting the face-to-face response I am used to'. In this practical virtual workshop, we will focus not just on what has changed but on how we can authentically 'turn-up' the right aspects of our personality and come across with the appropriate impact and presence in the virtual world.

Online Women's Leadership Seminar: Leading with Confidence and Resilience

Thursday 23 July 10:00 – 12:30 | Member fee: £165 + VAT

As much as we are working hard at staying connected through technology, we may be finding that our energy and confidence is being slowly depleted by this situation that we find ourselves in. Why not use this time to give your confidence a boost? Confidence is the key to resilience and influence. We will pose exploratory questions to inspire and motivate you. We will also suggest some new habits or patterns to enable you to embrace a more confident you. This will mean you connect more easily with others, and will help you show this new found energy and confidence to the world.

November 2020

Online Leadership Seminar: Tell it Like TED

Wednesday 11 November 14:00 – 16:30 | Member fee: £450 + VAT

We all know an impressive presentation or a skilled communicator when we see one. A great talk is enthralling, inspiring and often motivating. Thanks to the speakers at TED there is an encyclopaedia-like resource for all of us to learn from. This seminar considers the structure and delivery skills required for an engaging talk, as well as each speaker's individual style. TED style of delivery offers you the opportunity to hone your story telling skills and communicate the best version of yourself authentically.

Online Leadership Seminar: Powerful, Persuasive, Presenting

Wednesday 18 November 14:00 – 16:30 | Member fee: £450 + VAT

This seminar will help you improve your connection with groups and audiences, big and small, through powerful words, phrases and techniques. We will explore the secrets of powerful speaking by helping you to develop your own, authentic speaking style. As well as working practically in groups you will also get the opportunity to receive individual feedback and coaching from an experienced voice coach and presentation expert.

Online Leadership Seminar: Enhancing Personal Impact and Presence

Tuesday 24 November 14:00 – 16:30 | Member fee: £450 + VAT

This highly practical and interactive workshop is for people who want to maximise their presence and impact. If you want to make dynamic interventions, influence others at meetings, or deliver difficult messages, this session is for you. It will explore not what we say – but how we say it.

Online Women's Leadership Seminar: Understanding Yourself

Thursday 26 November 14:00 – 16:30 | Member fee: £450 + VAT

The most effective leaders are those who have a high level of self-awareness. Being aware of your own emotions and knowing how to express them enables you to build and develop strong and productive relationships. The ability to respond to challenging situations in a balanced and emotionally effective way will ensure you get the best out of yourself and those around you. Your decision-making and stress management is underpinned by your emotional intelligence. Understanding how your emotions are holding you back will enable you to take action to ensure you truly are the best version of yourself.

Online Leadership Seminar: Neuroscience of Leadership

Tuesday 8 December 14:00 – 16:30 | Member fee: £450 + VAT

As a leader you want to create an environment where employees can work at their best. Neuroscience can help! We all have good and bad days at work – neuroscience helps us to understand what makes the difference. It brings to light what enables us to perform at our best whilst also supporting mental and emotional well-being at work. Neuroscience provides a new lens through which to look at people and understand their behaviour and motivation.
